WHY REFLECTIONS???

- Founded in 1969, PTA Reflections is known as one of our nations oldest and largest student recognition programs in the arts.
- Participation in the arts programs, plays a critical role in students' success, in school and beyond
- PTA Reflections has been a valuable tool for strengthening school-community partnerships. It recognizes our students and their special talents.
- National PTA developed the National Standards for Family-School Partnerships to serve as a framework for thinking about, structuring, and assessing family engagement throughout your Reflections program.

WAYS TO ENGAGE IN REFLECTIONS

- Host a PTA art night (you may want to choose categories that your unit will participate in). This is a great way to get people out for a PTA meeting
  - Display the art around the school for families to vote on (this encourages families to bring other members.
- Work with the art, music, photography, drama, and ELA teachers to encourage the students to submit their work to PTA.
- Post flyers and signs around the school telling students when and where to submit their work.
- Work with local restaurants, theatres and businesses to ask them to display the students art work for a couple of weeks.
- Turn the school into an art gallery on night
  - allow the music competition students to perform
  - Allow the Literature competition student to read their work
  - While the art and photos are displayed around the school.
